saddle again before long—at any rate before the advance is made." "Hope so, Blunt. And now, if you feel up to telling it, I want to hear about your adventure. Colonel Somerset asked me to inquire, as it will throw some light on the numbers and position of the Kaffirs; besides, the whole camp is wanting to know how you succeeded in getting Miss Armstrong out of the hands of the Kaffirs. I can assure you that there is nothing else talked about."

"There is nothing much to talk about, as far as I am concerned, sir," Ronald said. "It was the Fingoes' doing altogether, and they could have managed as well, indeed better, without me."

"Except that they would not have done it,

"No, perhaps not," Ronald admitted, "I was lucky cought down at Port Elizabeth to fish out the son of Kreta, the head man of the party, who had been washed off his feet in the surf; and it was gratitude for that that induced him to follow me."
"Yes, we heard about that business from Mr.

nd although you speak lightly of it, it cells us, a very gallant affair indeed. was, he tells us, a very gallant affair indeed. But now as to this other matter."

"In the first place Captain Twentyman, I admit that going off as I did was a great breach of duty. I can only say that I shall be willing, cheerfully, to submit any penalty the Colonel may think fit to inflict. I had no right whatever to leave my detachment on what was really private business; but even if I had been certain that I should have been shot as a desorter on my as should have been shot as a deserter on my reshould have been shot as a deserter on my return to the regiment, I should not have hesitated in acting as I did."

"We all understand your feelings, Blunt," Captain Twentyman said, kindly, "and you have no need to make yourself uneasy on that score. To punish a man for acting as you have done would be as bad as the sea story Captain who flogged a seaman who Captain who flogged a seaman, who jumped overboard to save a comrade, for leaving the ship without orders. Now for your story: all we have heard is that your Fingo says you carried off the young lady from Macomo's kraal, but, of course, that is not believed."

"It is quite true, nevertheless," Ronald said,
"Well, this is how it was, sir," and he gave a "Well, this is how it was, sir," and he gave a full account of the whole adventure.

"Well, I congratulate you most heartily," Captain Twentyman said when he finished; "it is really a wonderful adventure—a most gal-lant business indeed, and the whole corps, offi-cers and men, will be proud of it,"

"I should be glad, sir, if there could be some reward given to Kreta and his men, as you will have seen from my story any credit that there have seen from my story, any credit that there is in the matter is certainly their due." "I will see to that," the officer replied. "The

"I will see to that," the officer replied. "The Fingo desires are, happily, easily satisfied; a good rifle, a few cows and a barrel of whisky make up his ideal of happiness. I think I can promise you they shall have all these."

In the afternoon, Mr. Armstrong again dropped off to a quiet sleep. This time he was not holding his daughter's hand, and as soon as she saw that he was fairly off she stole out of the room, and finding the surgeon, asked if he would take her up to the ward where Sergeant Blunt was lying.

Biunt was lying.

"Yes, I shall be happy to take you up at once, Miss Armstrong. Everything is tidy just at present, for I have had a message from Colonel Somerset that he and the General are coming round the wards. I don't suppose they will be here for half an hour, so you can come up at

The sick men in the wards were surprised when the surgeon entered, accompanied by a young lady. She passed shyly along between the rows of beds until she reached that of Ronald. She put her hand in his, but for a moment was unable to speak. Ronald saw her agitation, and said cheerfully, "I am heartily glad, Miss Armstrong, to hear from the doctor such a good account of your father. As for me, I shall not be in his hands many days. I told you it was a mere scratch and I believe told you it was a mere scratch, and I believe that a good-sized piece of sticking plaster was all that was wanted."

"You haven't thought me unkind for not coming to see you before, I hope," the cirl said, "but I have not been able till now to leave my

"but I have not been able till now to leave my father's room for a moment."

"I quite understood that, Miss Armstrong, and indeed there was no occasion for you to come to me at all. It would have been quite time enough when I was up and about again I only wish that it was likely that Mr. Armstrong would be on his feet as soon as I shall."

"Oh, he is going on very well," Mary said. "I consider that you have saved his life as well as mine. I feel sure that it is only having mowith nine. I feel sure that it is only having me with tim again that has made such a change in him him again that has made such a change in him as has taken place since yesterday. The doctor says so, too. I have not told him yet how it has all come about, but I hope ere very long he may be able to thank you for both of us."

"You thanked me more than enough yesterday, Miss Armstrong, and I am not going to listen to any more of it. As far as I can see, you could not have done me any greater service than by giving me the opportunity you have. Everyone seems disposed to take quite a ridicu ous view of the matter, and I may look forward to getting a troop-setgeantship when there is a vacance."

The girl shook her head. She was too much in earnest even to pretend to take a light view of the matter. Just at that moment there was a tramping of horses outside, and the sharp sound of the sentries presenting arms. f the sentries presenting arms

"Here is the General," Ronald said, with a smile, "and although I don't wish to hurry you away, Miss Armstrong, I think that you had better go back to your father. I don't know whether he would approve of lady visitors in the hospital."

the girl said, giving him her hand. "Goodby," the girl said, giving him her hand.
"You won't let me thank you, but you know,"
"I know," Ronald replied. "Goodby."
She looked round for the surgeon, who had,
after taking her up to Ronald, moved away for a short distance, but he was gone, having hur-ried off to meet the General below, and with a last nod to Ronald, she left the ward. She passed out through the door into the court yard just as the group of officers were enter-

"That is Miss Armstrong," the surgeon said, as she passed out.

"What, the girl who was rescued?" Colonel Somerest said: "a very pretty, lady-like-looking young woman. I am not surprised now that I see her at this desperate exploit of my sergeant." "No, indeed," the General said, smiling. "It's "No, indeed," the General said, smiling. "It's curions, Colonel, what men will do for a pretty face. Those other two noor creatures who were carried off were both murdered, and I don't suppose that their deaths have greatly distressed this young fellow one way or the other. No doubt he would have been glad to rescue them, but I imagine that their deaths have not them, but I imagine that their deaths have not them, but I imagine that their deaths have not them. in any way caused him to regard his mission as a failure. I suppose that it's human nature,

Colonel. Somerset laughed.

Colonel Somerset laughed.

You and I would have seen the matter in the same light when we were youngsters, Gen-

the same light when we were youngsters, General."

The officers went through the wards, stopping several times to speak a few words to the patients.

"So this is the deserter," Colonel Somerset said, with some assumed sternness, as they stopped by Ronald's bedside, "Well, sir, we have had a good many of those black rascals desert from our ranks, but you are the first white soldier who has deserted since the war began. Of course, you expect a drumbead court martial and shooting as soon as the doctor lets you out of his hands."

Ronald saw that the old Colonel was not in earnest.

"It was very bad, Colonel," he said, "and I

"It was very bad. Colonel," he said, "and I can only throw myself on your mercy."

"You have done well, my lad—very well," the Colonel said, laying his hand on his shoulder "There are some occasions when even military laws give place to questions of humanity, and this was essentially one of them. You are a fine fellow, sir; and I am proud that you belong to my corps."

The General, who had stopped behind speaking to another patient, now came up.

"You have done a very gallant action, Sergeant Blunt," he said. "Captain Twentyman has reported the circumstances to me; but when you are out of hospital you must come to headquarters and tell me your own story. Will you see to this, Colonel Somersett."

headquarters and tell me your own savely you see to this, Colonel Somerset?"
"Certainly, sir. I will send him over, or "Certainly, sir. I will send him over, or rather bring him over to you, as soon as he's about, for I should like to hear the whole story iso." In ten days Ronald Mervyn was about again, In ten days Ronald Mervyn was about again, although not yet fit for duty; the wound had healed rapidly, but the surgeon said it would be at least another fortnight before he would be fit for active service. As soon as he was able to go out and sit on the benches in the hospital yard, many of his comrades came to see him, and there was a warmth and earnestness in their congratulations which showed that short as his time had been in the corps, he was thoroughly popular with them. Sergeant Menzies was particularly hearty in his greeting.

Menzies was particularly hearty in his greeting.

"I knew you were the right sort, Harry Blunt, as soon as I set eyes upon you," he said; "but I did not expect that you were going to cut us all out so soon."

"How is my horse, Sergeant?"

"Oh, he's none the worse for it, I think. He has been taking walking exercise, and his stiffness is wearing off fast. I think he misses you very much, and he wouldn't take his food the first day or two: He has got over it now, but I know he longs to hear your voice again."

Sometimes, too, Mary Armstrong would come out and sit for a time with Honald. Her father was progressing favorably, and though recovery.

"Will you come in to see father?" Mary said "Will you come in to see father?" Mary said one morning; "he knows all about it now; but it was only when he came round just now that the doctor gave leave for him to see you."

"I shall be very glad to see him." Ronald said, rising. "I own that when I saw him last I had very slight hopes that I should ever meet him alive again."

"He is still very weak," the girl said, "and the doctor says he is not to be allowed to talk much."

much."
"I will only pay a short visit, but it will be a great pleasure to me to see him; I have always felt his kirdness to me."
"Father is kind to everyone," the girl said, simply. "In this instance his kindness has been returned a hundred-fold."
By this time they had reached the door of the ward.

"Here is Mr. Blunt come to see you, father.
Now you know what the doctor said, you are not to excite yourself, and not to talk too much, and if you are not good, I shall take him away."
"I am glad to see you are better, Mr. Armstrong "Ronald said, as he went up to the bed, and took the thin hand in his own. "Ged bless you, my boy," the wounded man replied; "it is to you I owe my recovery, for had you not brought Mary back to me I should be a dead man now, and would have been glad of it."

you not brought Mary back to me I should be a dead man now, and would have been glad of it."

"I am very glad, Mr. Armstrong, to have been able to be of service to your daughter and to you; but do not let us talk about it now. I am sure you cannot do so without agitating yourself, and the great point at present with us all is for you to be up and about again. Do your wounds hurt you much?"

"Not much; and yours, Blunt?"

"Oh, mine is a mere nothing," Ronald said, cheerfully, "it's healing up fast, and except when I forcet all about it, and more sharply, I scarcely feel it. I seel something like the proverbial man who swallowed the poker, and have to keep myself as stiff as if I were on inspection. This ward is nice and cool, much cooler than they are upstairs. Of course the verandah outside shades you. You will find it very pleasant there when you are strong enough to get up. I am afraid that by that time I shall be off, for the troops are all on their march from up the coast, and in another ten days we expect to begin operations in earnest."

"I don't think the doctor ought to let you go." Mary Armstrong said. "You have done quite your share, I am sure."

"I hope my share in finishing up with these scoundrels will be a good deal larger yet." Ronald laughed. "My share has principally been creeping and hiding, except just in that last brush, and there, if I mistake not, your share was as large as mine. I only fired three shots, and I think I heard your pistol go four times."

"Yes, it is dreadful to think of now," the girl

"Yes, it is dreadful to think of now," the girl "Yes, it is dreadful to think of now," the girl said; "but somehow it didn't seem so at the time. I feel shocked now when I recall it."

"There's nothing to be shocked at, Miss Armstrong; it was our lives or theirs, and if your hand had not been steady, and your aim true, we should neither of us be here talking over the matter now. But I think my visit has been long enough. I will come in again, Mr. Armstrong, to-morrow, and I hope each day to find you more and more able to take your share in the talk."

In another ten days Ronald rejoined his

In another ten days Ronald rejoined his troop, and the next day received an order to be ready at a o'clock to accompany Colonel Somerset to the General's.

"Now, Sergeant, take a seat," the General said, "and tell me the full story of your adventures."

ventures."
Ronald again repeated his story. When he Ronald again repeated his story. When he had done, the General remarked:

"Your report more than bears out what I heard from Captain Twentyman. I have already talked the matter over with Colonel Somerset, as we consider that such an action should be signally rewarded, Colonel Somerset will at once apply for a commission for you in your own corps, or if you would prefer it, I will apply for a commission for you in one of the line regiments. I may say that the application under such circumstances would certainly be acceded to."

"I am deeply obliged to you for your kindness, sir, and to you, Colonel Somerset; but I regret to say that, with all respect, I must decline both offers."

"Decline a commission!" the General said, in surprise. "Why, I should have thought that it was just the thing that you would have likedadashing young fellow like you, and on the eve of serious operations. I can hardly understand of serious operations. I can hardly understand Ronald was silent for a moment.

"My reason for declining it, sir, is a purely personal one. Nothing would have given me greater pleasure than a commission so bestowed, but there are circumstances that absolutely nevent my mineling in the lutely prevent my mingling in the society of gentlemen. The name I go by is not my true gentlemen. The name I go by is not my true one, and over my own name there is so terrible a shadow resting that so long as it is there—and I have little hope of its ever being cleared off—I must remain as I am."

Both officers remained silent for a moment. "You are sure you are not exaggerating the case, Blunt?" Colonel Somerset said after a pause. "I cannot believe that this cloud of which you speak can have arisen from any act of yours, and it would be a pity indeed were you to allow any family matter to weigh upon you thus."

you thus."

Ronald shook his head. "It is a matter in which I am personally concerned, sir, and I do not in any way exaggerate it. I repeat, I must not in any way exaggerate it. I repeat, I must remain in my present position."

"If it must be so, it must," the General said, "though I am heartily sorry... At least you will have the satisfaction of seeing your name in general orders this evening for an act of distinguished bravery."

"Thank you sir," and Ronald, seeing the conversation was at an end saluted the two offi-versation was at an end, saluted the two officers, went out, and rode back to his quarters.

The town was full of troops now, for the regiments that had been dispatched from England had nearly all arrived upon the spot, and the operations against the Kaffirs in the Amatolas operations against the Kaffirs in the Amatolas were to begin at once. Some of the troops, including two squadrons of the Rifles, were to march next morning.

Ronald went about his duties till evening, and then turned out to walk to the hospital. As he passed through the streets, he saw a group round one of the Rifles, who had just come out from a drinking shop, and was engaged in a fierce altercation with a Pingo. The man was evidently the worse for liquor, and Ronald went up to him and put his hand on his shoulder. ais shoulder.
"You had better go off to the barracks at Tou had better go off to the barracks at once." he said sharply; "you will be getting into trouble if you stay here."

The man turned savagely round.
"Oh, it's you, Sergeant Blunt? Hadn't you better attend to your own business? I am not committing any crime here. I haven't been murdering women, or anything of that sort."

am not committing any crime here. I haven't been murdering women, or anything of that sort."

Ronald started back as if struck, The significance of the tone in which the man spoke showed him that these were no random words, but a shaft deliberately aimed. In a moment he was cool again.

If you do not return to the barracks at once," he said sternly, "I will fetch a corporal's guard and put you in the cells."

The man hesitated a moment, and then muttering to himself, recled off toward the barracks. Had the blow come a month before, Ronald Mervyn would have felt it more. Absorbed in his active work on horseback the greater portion of his time, the remembrance of the past had become blunted, and the present had occupied all his thoughts. It was only occasionally that he had looked back to the days when he was Captain Mervyn, of the Borderers. But from the hour he had brought Mary Armstrong safely back to her father the past had been constantly in his mind because it clashed with the present.

Before, Ronald Mervyn and Harry Blunt had almost seemed to be two existences, unconnected with each other; now, the fact of their identity had been constantly in his thoughts. The question he had been asking himself over and over again was whether there could be a permanent separation between them, whether he could hope to get rid of his connection with Ronald Mervyn, and no continue to the end of the chapter as Harry Blunt. He had told himself long before that he could not do so, that sooner or later he should certainly be recognized; and although he had tried to believe that he coule pass through life without meeting anyone familiar with his face, he had been obliged to admit that this was next to impossible.

Had he been merely a country gentleman, the was a series to the reader with the recent with the state.

obliged to admit that this was next to impossible.

Had he been merely a country gentleman, known only to the people within a limited range of distance, it would have been different; but an officer who has served ten years in the army has innumerable acquaintances, Every move he makes brings him in contact with men of other regiments, and his circle goes on constantly widening until it embraces no small portion of the officers of the army. Then every soldier who had passed through his regiment while he had been in it would know his face; and go where he would he knew that he would be running constant risks of detection. More than one of the regiments that had now arrived at King Williamstown had been quartered with him at one station or another, and there were a score of men who would recognize him instantly did he come among them in the dress of an officer. This unexpected recognition, therefore, by a trooper in his own corps did not come upon him with so sudden a shock as it would have done a month previously.

in his own corps did not come upon him with so sudden a shock as it would have done a month previously.

"I knew it must come," he said to himself bitterly, "and that it might come at any moment. Still it is a shock. Who is this man, I wonder. It seemed to me, when he first came up, that I had some faint remembrance of his face, though where, I have not the least idea, it was not in the regiment, for he knows nothing of drill or military habits. Of course, if he had been a deserter, he would have pretended ignorance, but one can always tell by little things whether a man has served, and I am sure that this fellow has not. I suppose he comes from somewhere down home.

"Well, it can't be helped. Fortunately I have won a good name before this discovery is made, and am likely to reap the benefit of what doubt there may be. When a man shows that he has a fair amount of pluck, his comrades are slow to credit him with bad qualities. On the whole, perhaps it is well that it should have come on this evening of all when I had quite made up my mind as to my course. Still, this strengthens me in my decision as to what I ought to do. It is hard to throw away happiness, but this shows how rightly I decided. Nothing will shake me now. Poor little girll it is hard for her, harder by far than for me. However, it is best that she should know it now, than learn it when too late."

(To be continued.)

FEW remedies, after 60 years' trial and

FEW remedies, after 60 years' trial and constant use, retain their position as the best; yet, such is the case with Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermituge. Whether as a tonic or strengthener in dyspepsia in adults, or the indigestion and derangements of the stomach in children, it is simply invaluable; and as a worm remedy, it is one of the most safe and best. Sold by all druggists.

Ludies' Suit Parlors. New suits for early fall wear arriving daily at Parcels & Jones', 29 Fifth ave. TTS

SARA BERNHARDT has written a con novelette entitled "Andras Normatic's Duel." It is bright, dashing and readable, and will appear in to-morrow's DISPATCH.

PECULIAR THEORY, FIXED IN HIS MIND One Doctor Holds That Rough Streets | None of the Details Are Overlooked

Cause Nervous Diseases.

RUMBLING NOISES RESPONSIBLE.

Some Experiments With a Tuning Fork for an Illustration.

GOOD PLEA FOR BETTER PAVEMENTS

In a chat with a DISPATCH reporter yesterday, a prominent physician of this city opened up a new field of discussion about the proper kind of pavements for a city to use. Among other things he said: "It is generally conceded among medical men that the greater prevalence of nervous diseases among city dwellers, as compared with those who live in the country, is due in a great measure to the constant noise and rattle of the city streets, caused by wagons rumbling over the cobble or granite block pavements."

As another peculiar fact, he affirmed that the ears of the city man are not so scute as those of the man who lives in the country, all because the ears of the former are constantly subjected to a din similar to that in a boiler works, made by the rumbling wagons on the rough streets.

To corroborate his first statement he said that he was now treating a brother physician, who blames his trouble, which is similar to the condition known as "railway spine," to the constant jolting and shaking incident to the making of his daily rounds. He has had to give up his buggy altogether, until the city will pave the streets with asphalt or a substitute that will insure easy riding.

HE HADN'T THOUGHT ABOUT IT. Dr. Ayres, a specialist on nervous diseases was interviewed on the subject, and said that in his practice he had not come across any cases in which the disease was first caused by the noise named. However, it was possible, and he had not had his attention directed to this cause before. It was a fact, he said, that where a person was in any way predisposed to nervousness, the noise of the streets aggravated the disease, or complication of diseases, and from a small beginning often left the patient in a serious condition. He has been studying this feature of street noises, but has not gotten far enough in his studies to say that the rough pavement is a primary cause.

In his experiments he uses an instrument resembling a tuning-fork, a little over a foot long. As a heavy mill wagon went rumbling by he called attention to the fact that the vibrations could be felt in the feet and head by leaning the cranium on the back of a chair.

EFFECT OF AN EXPERIMENT. Striking the tuning-fork on the floor, he then put the handle end on the back of the reporter's head, and run it up and down the spine, when the same sensation as that from the rumbling wagon was felt, though in-creased in volume. Putting it on the feet, the same thing was repeated. The office being back from the street, the vibrations were weakened to that of the tuning-fork when struck lightly. WHAT OTHER DOCTORS SAID. Several other doctors were talked to on the subject, but, while agreeing that the rough pavement was a potent factor in the prevalence of nervous diseases, they retused allow their names to be mentioued. Cases of "railway spine." caused by the constant shaking a locomotive engineer has to en-dure, were mentioned as showing the result them were in favor of asphalt pavements, and others were a little chary of it, as they said its durability had not been assured. All agreed that some pavement with the smoothness of asphalt must be put down in the cities or Americans will become as nerv-When the vibrations of the fork are increased in number it produces a peculiar sensation of light pain or weariness found in nervous persons. If a person has some disease of the nervous system and the fork is applied to the part, it is like biting on an cerated tooth. The clanging of the register bell in the treet cars, Dr. Ayres said, also had a great tendency to aggravate nervous diseases, and he says it must be abolished as necessary to the perfect health and bodily comfort of all

Said one physician: "If all the streets were paved smoothly like the eastern end of Forbes street the entire city could be washed every night by opening the fireplugs, thus clearing away the organic matter which, if allowed to remain, forms a nest for the breeding of disease germs. With the stone block pavement the crevices catch all the dirt and organic filth, and here disease germs breed, it being impossible to wash

SELECT EXCURSION To Norfolk, Fortress Monroe and Virginia

Beach.

On Thursday, September 19. Special train will leave Baltimore and Ohio Railroad depot at 8 A. M., arriving in Washington at 6 P. M., leave Washington City at 6:30 P.M., arriving at Fortress Monroe, Norfolk and Virginia Beach the next morning early. Rate $10 for the round trip, tickets good for ten days. Charming ride down the Potomae river and Chesapeake Bay. For full par-ticulars inquire of or address E. D. Smith, Division Passenger Agent, corner of Finth avenue and Wood street, Pittsburg.

CALL for a glass of Bacuerlein Brewing Co.'s lager beer when giving your order at your favorite club, hotel, saloon or restaurant. It is pure, healthful, palatable and invigorating. Proprietors and managers will find it to their interest to keep it on tap. Telephone 1018. Bennects, Pa.

Two-toned dark brocaded silks; very rich goods but not expensive; entirely new designs and styles; open to-day.

Jos. Horne & Co.'s Penn Avenue Stores.

HARRY ALDEN, formerly of this city, can now be found at W. H. Holmes & Son's Chicago House, No. 264 South Clark street. 120 Water street, 264 South Clark st., 158 First avenue. 120 Water street, TTSSu Chicago. Pittsburg. Excursion to Columbus, tickets of Columbus, to the meeting of the L.O.O.F., at rate of $6 for the round trip, for all trains on September 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18, good to return until September 25. is Frauenheim & Vilsack's "Iron City Beer." It is undoubtedly the best in the

The B. & O. R. R. will sell excursion

Telephone 1186. GEO. H. BENNETT & BRO., 135 First avenue, second door below Wood street, for pure rye whiskies.

Special Sale.

market,

Sale of wall paper remnants now going on at John S. Roberts', 414 Wood st. TTS The Very Latest. Marvin's Exposition cakes. Children cry for them and old folks walk a mile to get them. S. S. MARVIN & Co.

CONSTANTINOPLE Frank G. Corpen-Turkish official and business life in the city of the Sultan. To-morrow's DISPATCH.

or Forgotten.

GIVEN WITH DISTINCTNESS.

It isn't altogether easy for a man to talk about himself, but when he has been through a notable experience it is only himself who can adequately describe it. It was indeed a notable experience that the speaker in this case passed through. That its details are still firmly fixed in his mind is shown by the distinctness with which he deseribes them.

"It may not seem," said Mr. McGrew, very important to anybody else, but it was rashly important to me, for I felt, as did my friends, that my trouble could not help but end in my being obliged to give up work and everything else, I was failing so steadilv and surely. "I can hardly say when it began," he continued, "but I commenced to notice it especially after an attack of malaria, some years ago. It was chiefly in my head at first. There would be an aching feeling at the back of my head, near the base of my skull, sometimes a dull, heavy pain in the forehead, just over the eyes. My nostrils would be clogged up, first one and then the After a time the trouble seemed to extend to my eyes and ears. My sight became dim. My eyes would fill with water and become so weak and inflamed that I could hardly see to read. If I would overtax them in the least by reading they would ache and pain me so that I could hardly bear it. Sounds like ringing and bussing would come in my ears and I could see that my hearing was being affected. "As the trouble extended my throat be-came very seriously involved. I would eatch cold on the slightest provocation. My throat would feel raw and inflamed and sometimes would get so sore that it would be hard for me to swallow. In spite of everything I could do the trouble kept getting a stronger hold upon me.

"I had to be continually hawking and raising to clear my throat. Something would seem to stick there that I could not get up or down. I could feel the mucus dropping back, and sometimes I would have choking and coughing spells that would leave me feeling miserable. "My stomach became very much deranged. There would be a feeling of discomfort and nausea after eating, and what I did eat seemed to lie there like a load or weight. Frequently I would sit down to the table teeling very hungry. Then I could only eat a few mouthfuls. The sight or smell of Willard McGrew, 16 Sheffield St., Allegheny. "In later years there would be a dry, fevershooting pains would take me in the chest, running through to the shoulder blades. An aching feeling, more like a horrible sensa-tion of weakness than anything else, would come in the small of my back.

come in the small of my back.

"Dizzy spells would come over me frequently, accompanied by palpitation of the heart. This would sometimes leave me weak and faint. My sleep did not seem to refresh me and I would get up in the morning feeling more tired than when I went to bed at night.

at night.

"Night sweats came on and wakened me terribly. I would have feverish spells, followed by a cold, chilly sensation. I tried many physicians, but in spite of everything I could do, I grew steadily weaker and worse, los all the time.
"When I went to Drs. Copeland & Blair the

"When I went to Drs. Copeland & Blair the night sweats were increasing in frequency, and I was growing weaker rapidly. Although they did not make any marvelous promises, I felt that they would cure me. I improved steadily from the start under their treatment. My throat became well. The night sweats disappeared. I gamed back my lost weight and strength. The pains in the chest, and the weak, aching feeling in the small of my back passed away. I slept well, eat well and felt well. I am strong and well now, quite like another person from what I was when I first went to Drs. Copeland and Blair." land and Blair,"
Mr. Willard McGrew, who makes this statement, is a well-known millwright and builder living at No. 15 Sheffield street, Allegheny

Additional Evidence by Mail.

About the middle of last May Miss Lottie J. Forker, of 299 Arch street, Meadville, Pa., placed herself under treatment by mail with Drs. Copeland & Blair. Her trouble had so completely involved her whole system as to almost entirely deprive her of the ability to perform her duties at home. In ability to perform her duties at home. In stating her case by letter just previous to the date above mentioned she complained of terrible headaches, followed by spells of vomiting, which would compel her to lie in bed for 24 hours, after which she would be completely worn out. Sharp pain in the breast, extending through to the shoulder blades, and followed by others in her stomach and side.

On June 3 she wrote: "Your medicine is doing me good, I do not feel so tired, and my head has only ached twice, and that was caused by a fresh cold I caught."

June 16 she wrote: "I am still improving, Your treatment is doing me a great deal of fresh cold I caught."

June 16 she wrote: "I am still improving. Your treatment is doing me a great deal of good." On June 23: "I am able to see still further improvement." On July 2 her letter stated that she was feeling very well.

August 5 she wrote: "I have had but one headache since I last wrote you and am improving in every way." August 26 she wrote: "I feel quite like a different woman from the one I was when I commenced your treatment. Although I have always said that I would not have my name in print, am quite willing that your should make a short statement of what your treatment has done for me. Shall be pleased to answer any inquiries that may be made regarding it."

Some time wgo Mr. M. C. Wilson, of Canonsburg, Pa., placed himself under treatment, by mail, with Drs. Copeland & Blair, His catarrhal trouble had extended until it had involved his whole system. In stating his case by letter early in July he complained of a full, heavy feeling in his head over the eyes, a bad taste in the mouth, coughing and raising obelegm dimpose of sight, thater pains in the taste in the mouth, coughing and raising phlegm, dimness of sight, sharp pains in the chest with a tight pinched feeling and soreness in the lungs, and a weak and shaky condition in the lungs, and a weak and shaky condition of the limbs.

July 25, he wrote: "I am improving steadily; feel ever so much better than I have in vears." August 8 he wrote: "My head and throat feel clear. I sleep well and eat well, and feel better in every way." August 16 he wrote: "I feel like a different being from the one I was when I commenced your treatment, and I am quite willing that a short statement of what your treatment has done for me should be made in the papers."

DOCTORS

Are located permanently at 66 SIXTH AVENUE.

Where they treat with success all curable cases Office hours—$ to 11 A. M.; 2 to 5 P. M.; 7 to 9 P. M. (Sunday included).

Specialties—CATARRH, and ALL DIS-EASES of the EYE, EAR, THROAT and S. iltation, $1. Address all mail to DRN. COPELAND & BLAIR, 66 Sixth ave., Pittsburg. P

OFFICIAL-PITTSBURG. TIEWERS' REPORT-

VIEWERS REPORT—
On the grading, paving and curbing of Cargilistreet, from Thirty-third street to Jewel street. To the Select and Common Councils of the city of Pittsburg.

The undersigued, Viewers of Street Improvements in the city of Pittsburg, appointed by the Court of Common Piezs of Allegheny county and authorized by an ordinance passed on the 19th day of March, A. D. 1888, a copy of which is hereto attached, to make an assessment of the cost and expense of grading, paving and curbing of Cargili street, from Thirty-third street to Jewel street, in said city, upon the property benefited thereby under the provisions of, and in accordance with, an act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled "An act authorizing and directing Councils of cities of the second class to provide for the improvement of streets, lanes, alleys and public highways, sewers and sidewalks, requiring plans of streets, providing for the appointment of a Board of Viewers of Street Improvements, prescribing their duties, granting appeals to Councils and Court, providing for the assessment and collection of damages and benefits, authorizing the use of private property, and providing for filing liens and regulating proceedings thereon, and prohibiting the use of public streets without authority of Councils," approved the 14th day of June, A. D. 1887; respectfully report:

That having been first duly sworn and quali-approved the 14th day of June, A. D. 1887; respectfully report:

That having been first duly sworn and qualified according to law, they proceeded in the manner and according to the directions of said act, to discharge the duties of their appointment; that having viewed the premises, they made an assessment of said cost and expense upon the property benefited, and caused a plot and statement to be made, as required by said act, and having given to the owner of each lot ten days' notice of the time and place of meeting, they met on the 6th day of September, A. D. 1889, at the office of the Board of Viewers, in the city of Pittsburg, heard all complaints and D. 1889, at the office of the Board of Viewers, in the city of Pittsburg, heard all complaints and evidence offered, and having made all modifications and corrections which they deem proper, assessed the cost and expense of constructing said grading, paving and curbing upon the following property, upon each for the amount set opposite the name of the owner thereof, viz:

Chief of Department of Public Works, statement of cost—

584 cubic yards grading, $0 49. $
565 square yards paving, $1 50.
51834 lineal feet curbing, $0 76.
10555 square feet crossing, $0 96.
Engineering, advertising, etc.
Printing ordinance and notices
Printing Viewers' report.
Making plan and serving notices.
Viewers' time. ASSESSED.

Cargill street, north side, from Thirty-third street to Jewel street.

Kate L. O'Connor, 40.89 feet. $ 177 10 Julius Arnd, 66 feet. 238 54 Rose O'Neil, 22 feet. 79 51 F. Herring, 44 feet. 159 03 Michael McCune, 44 feet. 159 06 South side.

South side—
South side—
Julia C. Winters, 23 feet.
Jacob Carroll, 53.10 feet.
Julius Krause, 88 feet.
Richard Price, 22 feet. Jacob Jenny, 22 feet.
George Hink, 22 feet.
Henry Scully, 22 feet. $1,724 00 Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD JAY ALLEN,
DANIEL WENKE,
TIMOTHY O'LEARY, JR.,
PITTSBURG, September 6, 1889.

VIEWERS' REPORT-

VIEWERS' REPORT—
On the opening of Tripod alley, from Meadow street to Shetland street.
To the Select and Common Councils of the city of Pittaburg:
The undersigned Viewers of Street Improvements in the city of Pittaburg appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny county, and authorized by an ordinance passed on the 21st day of November, A. D. 1887, a copy of which is hereto attached, to appraise the damages sustained in the opening of Tripod alley, from Meadow street to Shetland street, in the city of Pittaburg, and make an assessment therefor under the provisions of and in accordance with an act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled "An act authorizing and directing Councils of cities of the second class to provide for the improvement of streets, lanes, alleys and public highways, sewers and sidewalks, requiring plans of streets, providing for the appointment of a Board of Viewers of Street Improvements, prescribing their duties, granting appeals to Councils and Court, providing for the assessment and collection of damages and benefits, authorizing the use of private property, and providing for filing liens and regulating proceedings thereon, and prohibiting the use of public streets, without anthority of Councils," approved the 14th day of June, A. D. 1887, respectfully report:

That having been first duly sworn and quali-thority of Councils." approved the 14th day of June, A. D. 1857, respectfully report:

That having been first duly sworn and qualified according to law, they proceeded in the manner and according to the directions of said act, to discharge the duties of their appointment; and having given the notices required by said act, they viewed the premises and heard all the allegations and evidence of the several parties claiming damages, and after full consideration thereof, find that no owner of property has sustained any damage by reason of said improvement, that, after ascertaining the whole amount of costs, they made an assessment of the same upon the properties benefited by said improvement, and caused a plan to be made, and prepared a statement, as required by said act, and, having given to the owner of each lot ten days notice of the time and place of meeting, they met on the 16th day of August, A. D. 1889, at the office of the Board of Viewers, in the city of Pittsburg, heard all complaints and evidence, and, after full consideration thereof, present the following report, showing the amount each property portion of said cost:

South side— Michael Gisal, 139,39 feet... Samuel and Rebecca Keys, 25 feet... E. A. Torrens, 25 feet... Alice Charles, 25 feet... Rossiter, 92.68 feet... David Watson, 22.69 feet. Wm. C. Watson, 22.69 feet..... ames Callery, 45 feet... S. Montgomery or Mrs. Connors, 44 feet..... 5 32 8 113 25

Respectfully submitted,
DANIEL WENKE,
TIMOTHY O'LEARY, JR.,
PITTSBURG, August 16, 1889. (TIEWERS' REPORT-On the opening of Post street, from Forty-

On the opening of Post street, from Forty-second street to Forty-fourth street.

To the Select and Common Councils of the city of Pittsburg:

The undersigned Viewers of Street Improvements in the city of Pittsburg, appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny county and authorized by an ordinance passed on the 21st day of November, A. D. 1887, a copy of which is hereto attached, to appraise the damages sustained in the opening of Post street, from Forty-second street to Forty-fourth street, in the city of Pittsburg, and make an assessment therefor under the provisions of and in accordance with an act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled, "An act authorizing and directing Councils of cities of the second class to provide for the improvement of streets, lanes, alleys and public highways, sewers and sidewalks, requiring plans of streets, providing for the appointment of a Board of Viewers of Street Improvements, preways, sewers and sidewalks, requiring plans of streets, providing for the appointment of a Board of Viewers of Street Improvements, prescribing their duties, granting appeals to Councils and Court, providing for the assessment and collection of damages and benefits, authorizing the use of private property and providing for filing liens and regulating proceedings thereon, and prohibiting the use of public streets, without authority of Councils," approved the 14th day of June, A. D. 1887, respectfully report:

streets, without authority of Councils." approved the 14th day of June, A. D. 1887, respectfully report:

That having been first duly sworn and qualified according to law, they proceeded in the manner and according to the directions of said act, to discharge the duties of their appointment; and having given the notices required by said act, they viewed the premises and heard all the allegations and evidence of the several parties claiming damages, and after full consideration thereof, find that no owner of property has sustained any damage by reason of said improvement: that, after ascortaining the whole amount of costs, they made an assessment of the same upon the properties benefited by the said improvement, and caused a plan to be made, and prepared a statement, as required by said act, and, having given to the owner of each lot ten days' notice of the time and place of meeting, they met on the 14th day of August A. D. 1889, at the office of the Board of Viewers, in the city of Pittsburg, heard all complaints and evidence, and after full consideration thereof, present the following report, shewing the amount each property holder is entitled to pay as the proper proportion of said cost.

EXPENSES.

Printing ordinances and notices.....$ 40 60 Printing viewers' report.

Printing ordinances and notices$

OFFICIAL-PITTRBURG. Calvin Wells, (30) Moreet.

South side—
Daniel Berry, (48) 95 feet.

A. M. Fetzor, (44) 48 feet.
Calvin Wells, 72 feet.

G. W. Hammer, 29 feet.
John Miller, 14 feet.

$ 110 00 Respectfully submitted,
DANIEL WENKE,
TIMOTHY O'LEARY, JR.,
PITTSBURG, August 14, 1889.

Sel 2-33 TIEWERS' REPORT-

VIEWERS' REPORT—
On the opening of Garden alley, from Main street to Brown alley.
To the Select and Common Councils of the nity of Pittsburg:
The undersigned Viewers of Street Improvements in the city of Pittsburg, appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny county and authorized by an ordinance passed on the 25th day of February, A. D. 1889, a copy of which is hereth attached, to appraise the damages sustained in the opening of Garden alley, from Main street to Brown alley, in the city of Pittsburg, and make an assessment therefor under the provisions of and in accordance with an act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled, "An act authorizing and directing Councils of cities of the second class to provide for the improvement of streets, lanes, alleys and public highways, sewers and Sidewalks, requiring plans of streets, providing for the appointment of a Board of Viewers of Street Improvements, prescribing their duties, granting appeals to Councils and Court, providing for the assessment and collection of damages and benefits, authorizing the use of private property and providing for filing liens and regulating proceedings thereon, and prohibiting the use of public streets, without authority of Councils," approved the litch day of June, A. D. 1887; respectfully report:

That, having been first duly sworn and qualified according to law, they proceeded in the manner and according to the directions of said act, to discharge the duties of their appointment; and, having given the notices required by said act, they viewed the premises and heard all the allegations and evidence of the several parties claiming damages, and, after full consideration thereof, find that no owner of property has sustained any damage by reason of said improvement; that, after ascertaining the whole amount of costs, they made an assessment of the same upon the properties benefited by said act; and, having given to the owner of each-iot ten days notice of the Board of Viewers, in the city of Pittsburg, heard all co

EXPENSES. ASSESSED. Garden alley, north side from Main street to curbing of Boggs avenue, from Bailey avenue to south line of property owned by Louis Neper, in said city, upon the property benefited thereby under the provisions of and in accordance with an act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled, "An act authorizing and directing Councils of cities of the second class to provide for the improvement of streets, lanes, alloys and public highways, sewers and sidewalks, requiring plans of streets, providing for the appointment of a Board of Viewers of Street Improvements, prescribing their duties, granting appeals to Councils and Court, providing for the assessment and collection of damages and benefits, authorizing the use of private property and providing for fling hens and regulating proceedings thereon, and prohibiting the use of public streets without authority of Councils," approved the lith day of June, A. D. 1887; respectfully report

That having been first duly sworn and qualified according to law, they proceeded in the manner and according to the directions of sci dact, to discharge the duties of their appointment; that having viewed the premises, they made an assessment of said cost and expense upon the property benefited, and caused a plot and statement to be made, as required by said act and having given to the owner of each lot ten days notice of the time and place of meeting, they met on the sth day of September, A. D. 1889, at the office of the Board of Viewers, in the city of Pittsburg, heard all complaints and evidence offered, and having made all modifications and corrections, which they deem propert, upon each for the amount set opposite the name of the owner for the amount set opposite the name of the owner for the amount set opposite the name of the owner hereof, viz:

Chief of Department of Public Works, statement of cost:

 Chief of Department of Public Works, statement of cost:
 328,089 18

 14.862 square yards paving, $1
 89.
 328,089 18

 8,729 lineal feet curbing, $5c.
 7,419 65

 1,782 square feet crossing, $1
 90.
 1,782 00

 Engineering and advertising.
 800 00
 90.

 Printing ordinance and notices.
 40
 40

 Printing viewers' report.
 39
 25

 Making plan and serving notices.
 25
 00

 Viewers' time.
 63
 00
 $38,318 08

ASSESED.

Boggs avenue, north side, from Bailey avenue to Louis Neper property—
John Geib (62), 87.86 feet. $ 298 91
John Wilbert, 27.36 feet. 130 17
John Wilbert, 87.47 feet 419 44
Philip Hoffman, 390.49 feet. 1,880 23
Wm. Miller, 97.04 feet. 467 65
Louis Beinhauer, 80 feet 386 69
Jos. Casev, 25 feet 120 53 Wm. Miller, 97.04 feet
Louis Beinhauer, 80 feet
Jos. Casey, 25 feet.
Mrs. W. Spohn, 25 feet.
Wm. Kramer, 74.00 feet
A. Sabach, 24 feet
C. Wechter, 24 feet
B. A. Bradneld, 48 feet
Henry Enler, 24 feet
Henry Enler, 24 feet
First German E. L. Zion Congregation, 67 feet
Jas. T. Bovard, 48 feet
Carlo Feebig, 24 feet
August Zarbish, 48 feet
Mrs. H. O'Brien, 24 feet
Mrs. H. O'Brien, 24 feet
Mrs. Sarah S. Boggs, 113,60 feet
L. J. Hohl, 45.81 feet
De Witt Loomis, 140 feet Mrs. Lucy O'Brien, 50 feet.
Mrs. Lucy O'Brien, 50 feet.
Frank Shanley, 311.50 feet.
Thomas S. Maple, 317.98 feet.
Daniel S. Donahoe, 40 feet. Sarah L. Borgs, 186.64 feet. Frank Bacon (59), 45.53 feet. James Carson, 52.88 feet. Sarah W. Summerville, 52.88 feet.... Sarah W. Summerville, 52.88 feet. Henry Markle, 52.88 feet. William Kaiser (50) 52.88 feet. Martha Hoovler, 105.76 feet. John Wilbert, 520.16 feet.

George Shearing, 124.68 feet....... John A. Schuck (288), 360.54 feet..... South side-John Wilbert, 83.63 feet. George Sindel (65), 88.56 feet....... Charles Shulz, 46.50 feet...... Charles Shulz, 46.50 feet.
Adam Spohn, 23.37 feet.
Gus. Bochert, 19.50 feet.
Henry Meyer, 58.29 feet.
Maria Groene, 25 feet.
John Essig, 25 feet.
Ellen Nusser, 25 feet.
C. Nusser, 27, 50 feet.
Ellen Nusser, 25 feet.
Hen Nusser, 25 feet.
Nich. Breno (24), 25 feet.
Nich. Breno (24), 25 feet.
Peter Ammon (88), 96.25 feet.
Charles Koehimeler (84), 88 feet.
J. A. Hagemann, 37.50 feet.
John Wilbert, 25 feet.
L. J. Booker, 25 feet. J. A. Hagemann, 37.50 feet.
John Wilbert, 25 feet.
L. J. Booker, 25 feet.
John Deitrich (63), 84,52 feet.
Henry Poke, 150,55 feet.
Chas, Kohlmeyer, 74,08 feet.
John C. Hennsins (41), 51,70 feet.
Jacob Brednich (27), 29,68 feet.
F. Poock (39), 48,53 feet.
Henry Woolfram (47), 51,50 feet.
Michl Tongard, 38,67 feet.
John Paul, 83,67 feet.
John Paul, 83,67 feet.
A. W. Smith (77), 85,20 feet.
Louisa Keenan (39), 40,20 feet.
John Benton, 28,4 feet.
Charlotte E. Benton, 22 feet.
St. Boggs, 85,81 feet.

OFFICIAL-PITTSBURG Boggs, 181.33 feet..... a G. Rankin, 114.39 fe Swift (250), 241.28 feet th Home, Reuben M J. H. O'Brien, 75.5 feet. Caroline Grier, 100 feet. Sophia Moore, 48 feet. A. J. Hunter, 48 feet. H. J. Beecher, 48 feet. Peter Heckman, 72 feet. A. Glasder, 48 feet. H. M. Raif (15), 7,03 feet. Henry Weissel (67, 54.3s. H. M. Raif (15), 27,03 feet Henry Weissel (67), 54,39 feet. A. Ammon heirs, 183,75 feet. Hannah Fox (40), 65 feet. S. L. Boggs, 149,27 feet. John Paul, 112,55 feet. Catherine Hunter, 69,36 feet.

Respectfully submitted.

EDWARD JAY. ALLEN.
DANIEL WENKE.
TIMOTHY O'LEARY, JR.
PITTSBURG. September 4 1889.

A N ORDINANCE—AUTHORIZING THE Street, from Dinwiddie street to Jumouville street, from Dinwiddie street to Jumouville street, in the Eleventh ward of Pittsburg.

Whereas, It appears by the petition and affidavit on file in the office of the Cizik of Councils that one-third in interest of the owners of property fronting and abutting upon the said street have petitioned the Councils of said city to enact an ordinance for the grading, paving and curbing of the same; therefore.

Section 1—Be it ordained and smacted by the city of Pittsburg in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same; that the Chief of the Department of Public Works be and is hereby authorized and directed to advertise, in accordance with the acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the ordinances of the said city of Pittsburg relating thereto and regulating the same, for proposals for the grading, paving and curbing of Colwell street, from Dinwiddie street to Jumouville street, the contract therefor to be let in the manner directed by the said acts of Assembly and ordinances, the cost and expense of the same to be assessed and collected in accordance with the provisions of an act of Assembly and ordinances, the cost and expense of the same to be assessed and collected in accordance with the provisions of an act of Assembly and ordinances, the cost and expense of the same to be assessed and collected in accordance with the provisions of an act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania emitted "An act relating to street and sewers incities of the second class," approved the 18th day of May, A. D. 1889. 538 318 US of the second class," approved the 16th day of May, A. D. 1889.

A N ORDINANCE—AUTHORIZING THE construction of a sewer on Cabot alley, from a point about 75 feet east of South Fifth street to a connection with a sewer about 50 feet east of South Sixth street.

Section 1—Be it ordained and enacted by the city of Pittaburg, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Chief of the Department of Public Works be and is hereby authorized and directed to advartise in accordance with the acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the ordinances of the said city of Pittaburg relating thereto and regulating the same, for proposals for the construction of a pipe sawer on Cabot alley from a point about 75 feet east of South Fifth street to a connection with a sewer about 50 feet east of South Sixth street, commencing at Cabot alley, distant about 75 feet, east of south Fifth street; thence along Cabot alley in an easterly direction to a connection with a sewer about 50 feet east of South Sixth street, size of sewer to be 12 inches in diameter, the contract therefor to be let in the manner directed by the said acts of Assembly and ordinances. The cost and expense of the same to be assessed and collected in accordance with the provisions of an act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled "An act relating to streets and sewers in cities of the second class," approved the 18th day of May, A. D. 1889.

the second class," approved the 18th day of May, A. D. 1889.

A N ORDINANCE—AUTHORIZING THE A construction of a sewer on Frankstown avenue from Homewood to Fifth avenue. Section 1—Be it ordained and enacted by the city of Pittsburg, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Chief of the Department of Public Works be, and is hereby authorized and directed to advertise in accordance with the acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the ordinances of the said city of Pittsburg relating thereto and regulating the same, for proposals for the construction of a pipe sewer on Frankstown avenue, beginning at Homewood avenue, thence westwardly to Lang street, sewer to be 15 inches in diameter; thence to Murtland street sewer, to be 18 inches in diameter; thence to Negley run sewer to be 20 inches in diameter; thence to Linden street sewer, to be 15 inches in diameter; thence to Linden street sewer, to be 15 inches in diameter; thence to Linden street sewer, to be 15 inches in diameter; thence to Fifth avenue sewer, to be 15 inches in diameter, with connection with sewers at Fifth avenue and at Negley run, the contract therefor to be let in the manner directed by the said nue and at Negley run, the contract therefor to be let in the manner directed by the said acts of Assembly and ordinances. The cost and expense of the same to be assessed and collected in accordance with the provisions of as act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled "An act relating to streets and sewers in cities of the second class," approved the 16th day of May, A. D. 1889.

An ordinance-authorizing the

An ORDINANCE—AUTHORIZING THE acceptance of the sewer in Sachem (formerly Smallman) alley and declaring the same to be a public sewer.

Whereas, The owners of property abutting on Sachem (formerly Smallman) alley, in the Seventh ward of Pittsburg, have, at their own cost and expense, constructed a pipe sewer 12 inches in diameter in said alley, from Haxel street to a connection with the sewer on Clark street, said sewer having been constructed under the direction and supervision and according to the rules and specifications of the Highway Department of the city and which sewer appears upon the plans of sewerage of the city; therefore, construction of sewers by authority of Councils, and protect and keep it in good condition.

Section 1.—Be it ordained and enacted by the city of Pittsburg, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the sewer constructed by the owners of the abutting property on Sachem (formerly Smallman) alley, from Hazel street to a connection with a sewer in Clark street, be and the same is hereby accepted and, declared to be a public sewer, and the Department of Public Works is hereby directed to take possession of the same just the same as is done in case of construction of sewers by authority of Councils, and protect and keep it in good coedition.

813-76

A N ORDINANCE—AUTHORIZING THE Aconstruction of a sewer on Rebecca street, from Friendship avenue to Liberty avenue.

Section 1—Be it ordained and enacted by the city of Pittsburg. In Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Chief of the Department of Public Works be and is hereby authorized and directed to advertise in accordance with the acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the ordinances of the said city of Pittsburg relating thereto and regulating the same, for proposals for the construction of a pipe sewer on Rebecca street, commencing at Friendship avenue; thence to Harriet street is inches in diameter; thence to a connection with sewer on Liberty avenue, to be 18 inches in diameter between the last mentioned points, the contract therefor to be let in the manner directed by the said acts of Assembly and ordinances. The cost and expense of the same to be assessed and collected in accordance with the provisions of an act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled "An act relating to streets and sewers in cities of the second class," approved the 16th day of May, A. D. 1889.

A N ORDINANCE—AUTHORIZING THE

May, A. D. 1888.

A N ORDINANCE—AUTHORIZING THE construction of a sewer on Mulberry alley, from Sixteenth street to Seventeenth street.

Section I—Be it ordained and enacted by the city of Pittsburg, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Chief of the Department of Public Works be, and is hereby, authorized and directed to advertise in accordance with the acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the ordinances of the said city of Pittsburg relating thereto and regulating the same, for proposals for the construction of a pipe sewer on Mulberry alley, from Sixteenth to Seventeenth streets, commencing at Sixteenth street, along Mulberry alley to a connection with a sewer on Seventeenth street, size of sewer to be 15 inches in diameter, the contract therefor to be let in the manner directed by the said acts of Assembly and ordinances. The cost and expense of the same to be assessed and collected in accordance with the provisions of an act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled "An act relating to streets and sewers in cities of the second class," approved the 16th day of May, A. D. 1889.

A N ORDINANCE — LOCATING ROSE

A N ORDINANCE - LOCATING ROSE street, from Miller street to Crawford A Street, from Miller street to Crawford street.

Section 1—Be it ordained and enacted by the city of Pittsburg, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That Rose street, from Crawford street to Miller street be, and the same shall be located as follows, to wit: The north five-foot line aball begin on the west five-foot line of Crawford street at a distance of 281,50 feet south from the south ten-foot line of Center avenue, thence deflecting to the left 90 01' in an easterly direction and parallel to Center avenue, a distance of 01.72 feet to the west five-foot line of Miller street, and the said Rose streat shall be of a width of 50 feet.

A N ORDINANCE—AUTHORIZING THE vacation of Mellon street, from Margaretta street to Rural street.

Section I—Be it ordained and enacted by the city of Pittsburg, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That Mellon street, from Margaretta street to Rural street, in the Ninetsenth ward, shall be and the same is hereby vacated.